The Charles H. Taylor Arts Center

Gallery Talk

Meet the exhibiting artists and Co-Curators for the NOW: African-American Artists in Tidewater exhibition, and learn more about the artworks on display. The exhibition examines the work of approximately one hundred artists working and living in the Tidewater region of Virginia. It is a show that explores a breadth of vison, media, and interpretations created by both emerging artists and established artists.

This event is free and open to the public.
